Register And Vote

A few days ago the Barnett National Bank issued the following statement: "The highest privilege of American citizenship is the vote. It is your voice in determining who shall direct your government. Every citizen should be a registered voter. Those who fail to register will have no right to complain or criticize if they are later dissatisfied with their government".

As I read this statement, I thought about the attitude assumed by so many of my people. We complain bitterly about the injustices that we suffer in this country. We bemoan the inequalities in educational opportunities, the segregation, police brutality, lynching, and other evils that are heaped upon Negro citizens; but so few of us are willing to take positive action for the alleviation of these conditions. Mere talk will not suffice. If we are to receive the proper respect from those who govern us, we must exercise some voice in their election.

Since Reconstruction days southern states have used various methods to restrict the vote of their Negro citizens. Through intimidation, the Grandfather Clause, the poll tax, and the white primary, the South has sought to neutralize the Negro's political power. Gradually these restrictions are being lifted. Thanks to the efforts of the NAACP, the Grandfather Clause was outlawed in 1901. The NAACP now has a case before the U. S. Supreme Court which we hope will open the Democratic Primary. The abolition of the poll tax in Florida places us in a better position to vote than that enjoyed by Negroes in most southern states.

Even now, however, some of us are discouraged because we are barred from the Democratic Primary. Let us not let this restriction keep us from registering. We must create more competition in this business. If Negroes register in large numbers, even as Republicans or Independents, the Democrats will not always be so sure of winning in the General Election. Thus the Negro's political influence will automatically increase.

We are now approaching what might prove to be the most momentous election in the history of our country. Not since 1864 has this country held a presidential election while engaged in a bloody conflict. Important issues are being discussed. We are hearing much about the Atlantic Charter, a fourth term, the fight against inflation, etc. As American citizens it is only natural that we, too, should be interested in these questions. Black citizens are anxious to help develop a prosperous post-war America and a peaceful world, in which all races and nations can live as one big family.

On the other hand, some are raising issues that seem to affect our race in particular. One Florida candidate for the U. S. Senate is advocating a return to "states' rights" and "white supremacy". This man would leave the South free "to handle its own social and racial problems". Thus while black boys are bravely resisting the swiftness of aggression on foreign fields, evil forces are oppressing colored Americans right here in their own country. "White Supremacy" leagues are being organized in South Carolina and Alabama; Senator Bilbo urges his legislature to "renew our faith and allegiance to the color line"; Gov. Sparks of Alabama denounces Federal aid for public schools; a Florida Negro teacher and his brother-in-law are brutally beaten by Jacksonville policemen; and a fifteen-year old Negro school boy is lynched in Sumner County. These are some of the issues that should arouse black citizens to cast the heaviest possible vote in the coming election.

We firmly believe in the doctrine of that writer who said: "He who would be free must himself strike the first blow". The ballot is one of our most powerful weapons in this fight for democracy at home. Let us prepare now to use it to the fullest extent.

Records And Attitudes of Candidates

The Progressive Voters' League of Florida has decided not to make any formal endorsement of candidates for state offices until after the first primary. However, for the benefit of Negro voters, we release the following information about some of the candidates, with regard to their records and attitudes toward Negro citizens.

- For Governor -

1. Calvin English has served as state superintendent of schools for about 11 years. It was during his first term as state superintendent that Florida Negro teachers began their fight for equal salaries. There are indications that Mr. English opposed the efforts of Negro teachers to get equal salaries. As state superintendent Mr. English has been an influential figure in the Florida Education Association (the state organization of white teachers), and it is said that this organization has appropriated money to hire lawyers to fight Negro teachers whenever they might file suits for equal salaries. J. Velma Keen of Tallahassee is the lawyer who has opposed Negro teachers in many of their suits for equal salaries, and Mr. Keen is said to be closely associated with Mr. English. Mr. English was in office 9 years before he recognized the Negro teachers enough to visit their State Association, although the superintendent who preceded him visited the Negro teachers' meetings quite frequently.

2. E. A. Shands of Gainesville has been a member of the State Legislature for a number of years. Last year Mr. Shands was one of the leaders in the fight against the Matthews White Primary Bill, which would have kept Negroes from voting in Democratic primaries.

3. Fuller Warren has served as a member of the State Legislature from Calhoun and Duval Counties. Mr. Warren has long been considered an advocate of "white supremacy", and it is said that he is closely associated with Senator John E. Matthews of Duval County, who tried hard to get a "white primary" bill through the last Legislature.

4. J. Tom Watson has been attorney general of Florida for several years. We can mention several instances in which Mr. Watson has openly taken a stand in favor of Negroes. On Oct. 26, 1945, Mr. Watson issued a legal opinion which upheld the right of Negroes to register as Democrats and to vote in primary elections. Mr. Watson sent a copy of this opinion to the Progressive Voters' League. When the State Democratic Committee met in Tampa in 1946, Mr. Watson arranged for Mr. J. G. Broughton, then president of the Voters' League, to talk with key members of this Committee about plans for permitting Negroes to vote in Democratic primaries. On Feb. 26, 1946, Mr. Watson sent a circular letter to all registration supervisors, in which he reminded them that Negroes had a right to register as Democrats. When Jesse James Payne was lynched in 1945, Mr. Watson informed Gov. Caldwell that Sheriff Davis was the uncle of the 5-year old white girl that Payne was accused of raping, and he recommended that Sheriff Davis be suspended.

- For State School Superintendent *

1. Thomas D. Bailey has served for several years as president and now as secretary of public relations for the Florida Education Association. As we stated above, this Association of white teachers has actively opposed the efforts of Negro teachers to get equal salaries. Many Negro teachers in Tampa feel that Mr. Bailey was in favor of a rating system when he was supervising principal there. (Some counties use this rating system as a scheme to pay Negro teachers less than they pay white teachers). Atty. J. Velma Keen, the lawyer who has opposed Negro teachers in most of their salary suits, is said to be supporting Mr. Bailey.

2. Robert D. Dolley has had much to do with the development of vocational education in Florida. It is reported that Mr. Dolley has been largely responsible for the opening up of many vocational schools for Negroes in Florida. Some of his associates have related instances in which Mr. Dolley opposed efforts of white people to segregate and to practice discrimination against Negroes who were working with him in certain conferences.

3. Robert C. Marshall served for several years as principal and superintendent of schools in Duval County. Mr. Marshall visited our Board Meeting in Tampa on April 17th, and he gave several

- For Attorney General -

1. Grady Burton of Mauchula has been state attorney for many years. Two years ago attorneys NAACP were attacking the exclusion of Negroes from jury service in Polk County. It is report Mr. Burton voluntarily took the stand and testified that he had advised the Jury Commission violating the Constitution in excluding Negroes from the jury list. He further stated that he would not try another case involving Negroes unless names of Negroes were placed in the jury

2. Richard W. Ervin has served as an assistant to J. Tom Watson, and some feel that he shares Watson's attitude with regard to citizenship rights for Negroes.

Later this week we hope to send out a list of recommended candidates for delegate to the Nat Democratic Convention, as we want to support candidates who are not opposed to President Tru and his civil rights program.
