Attorney General Moody Files Suit Against Biden’s Illegal Student Loan Plan

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Attorney General Ashley Moody, and a coalition of five other state attorneys general, today filed suit against the Biden administration’s latest attempt to force Americans to pay someone else's debt. The lawsuit targets what the federal government calls the “SAVE” Plan, which in reality will cost Americans $475 billion—$45 billion more than its last unlawful student loan plan.

Attorney General Ashley Moody said, “Last year, the Supreme Court struck down Biden’s illegal attempt to force Americans to pay off someone else’s debt. Now, Biden thumbs his nose at the court like he has done with so many issues, including immigration, and does what he wants, trying again to mass-cancel student debt. We will fight in court to make sure that hard-working Americans, who are struggling to buy groceries thanks to Biden, are not on the hook for other people’s debt.”

In the suit, Attorney General Moody and the coalition assert, “Just last year, the Supreme Court struck down an attempt by the President to force teachers, truckers, and farmers to pay for the student loan debt of other Americans—to the enormous tune of $430 billion. In striking down that attempt, the Court declared that the President cannot ‘unilaterally alter large sections of the American economy.’ Undeterred, the President is at it again, even bragging that ‘the Supreme Court blocked it. They blocked it. But that didn’t stop me.’”

The attorneys general note, “Yet again, the President is unilaterally trying to impose an extraordinarily expensive and controversial policy that he could not get through Congress. This latest attempt to sidestep the Constitution is only the most recent instance in a long but troubling pattern of the President relying on innocuous language from decades-old statutes to impose drastic, costly policy changes on the American people without their consent.”

The Supreme Court of the United States ruled in favor of a previous challenge to the Biden administration’s unilateral and unlawful wealth transfer of hundreds of billions of dollars in student loan debt. In a 6-3 decision, SCOTUS struck down Biden’s repayment plan as unconstitutional, citing the massive $430 billion-plus impact on the federal budget without express authority from Congress.

The following attorneys general joined Attorney General Moody in filing this suit: Arkansas, Georgia, Missouri, Ohio and Oklahoma.
