Mr. David G. Conn
Attorney for Clerk of Court for St. Johns County

RE: LOCAL OPTION TOURIST DEVELOPMENT TAX--COUNTIES--CLERKS OF COURT--REVENUE, DEPARTMENT OF--TAXATION--county clerk of court designated as local official to administer local option tourist development tax may be given authority to use provisions in Part I, Ch. 212, F.S., in collecting delinquent taxes. ss. 125.0104, 212.10, F.S.

QUESTION:

Does the clerk of the court, as the designated local official to collect local option tourist development taxes, have the authority to enforce the collection of delinquent tourist development taxes in the same manner as the Department of Revenue pursuant to s. 212.10, F.S., and Rule 12A-1.090, F.A.C.?

SUMMARY:

The clerk of the court has been delegated the authority to collect tourist development taxes by the governing board of the county pursuant to s. 125.0104, F.S. (1990 Supp.). Such powers could include the authorization to collect delinquent taxes in the manner used by the Department of Revenue pursuant to s. 212.10, F.S.

Subject to the provisions in s. 125.0104, F.S. (1990 Supp.), any county in this state may levy a tourist development tax on the rental of specified living quarters or accommodations when such rental is for a term of six months or less.[1] The tourist development tax is levied pursuant to an ordinance enacted by the governing board of the county.[2] The ordinance must contain a tourist development plan and is subject to referendum approval.[3]

If the tourist development tax is approved, the county may remit the collections to the Department of Revenue or may adopt an ordinance providing for the collection and administration of the tax on a local basis.[4] The ordinance must, at a minimum, provide for the following:

- "1. Initial collection of the tax to be made in the same manner as the tax imposed under part I of chapter 212.
2. Designation of the local official to whom they tax shall be remitted, and that official's powers and duties with respect thereto. Tax revenues may be used only in accordance with the provisions of this section.

3. Requirements respecting the keeping of appropriate books, records, and accounts by those responsible for collecting and administering the tax.

4. Provision for payment of a dealer's credit as required under part I of chapter 212.

5. A portion of the tax collected may be retained by the county for costs of administration, but such portion shall not exceed 3 percent of collections."

St. Johns County Ordinance No. 88-27 has designated the Clerk of the Court to "perform the enforcement and audit functions associated with the collection and remission of the St. Johns County tourist development tax . . . "[5] Furthermore, the clerk is authorized, when any tax becomes delinquent or is otherwise in jeopardy, to "use all appropriate remedies at law or equity necessary to collect such delinquent tax." [6]

Section 125.0104(10)(c), F.S. (1990 Supp.), authorizes a county which elects to assume all responsibility for auditing the records and accounts of dealers, and assessing, collecting, and enforcing payments of delinquent taxes, to use any power granted in s. 125.0104 to the Department of Revenue to determine the amount of tax, penalties, and interest to be paid by each dealer and to enforce payment of such tax, penalties, and interest.

Section 125.0104(2), F.S. (1990 Supp.), provides that "[t]he provisions contained in chapter 212 apply to the administration of any tax levied pursuant to this section." Furthermore, the section provides:

"The same duties and privileges imposed by chapter 212 upon dealers in tangible property, respecting the collection and remission of tax; the making of returns; the keeping of books, records, and accounts; and compliance with the rules of the Department of Revenue in the administration of that chapter shall apply to and be binding upon all persons who are subject to the provisions of this section." [7]

Reading these subsections together, it is clear that the Department of Revenue may use the provisions in Ch. 212, F.S., to administer the collection of tourist development taxes pursuant to s. 125.0104, F.S. (1990 Supp.). This is supported by the rules which have been adopted by the Department of Revenue regarding the collection of tourist development taxes. [8] As administrative interpretations by the agency charged with the administration of s. 125.0104, F.S., the rules adopted by the department are entitled to great weight in determining the applicability of Part 1, Ch. 212, F.S., in this instance. [9]

In light of the authority given to the Department of Revenue in s. 125.0104, F.S. (1990 Supp.), to use the provisions in Ch. 212, F.S., in the administration of tourist development taxes, it appears that a county electing to assume all responsibilities for the administration and collection of the tax may exercise such powers. Therefore, I am of the opinion that the governing body of the county may by ordinance authorize the designated local official to exercise the same powers given to the department under s. 125.0104, F.S.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Butterworth
Attorney General
