The full text of the proposed amendment states:

"Article VII, Section 9 of the State Constitution is amended by adding a new Paragraph (c) to read:

ARTICLE VII FINANCE AND TAXATION
Section 9. Local taxes.—

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision contained in this Constitution, the maximum amount of all ad valorem taxes collected by counties, school districts, municipalities, and special districts on any parcel of real property shall not, when combined, exceed 1.35% of the parcel's highest taxable value. The term "taxable value" refers to the value of real property to which millage rates are applied. The Legislature shall, by general law, provide for the distribution of tax revenues derived from parcels for which the combined ad valorem tax levies exceed 1.35% of the parcel's highest taxable value. This subsection does not apply to ad valorem taxes levied for the payment of bonds issued pursuant to Section 12 of this Article or levied for periods not longer than two years when authorized by a vote of the electors."

The ballot title for the proposed amendment is "1.35% property tax cap, unless voter approved."
The ballot summary for the proposed amendment states:

"Provides that the property tax on any parcel of real property shall never exceed 1.35% of the highest taxable value of the property. This property tax limit shall apply to all property taxes except property taxes approved by voters. Distribution of revenue from parcels that have reached the 1.35% limit shall be determined by general law. Does not amend Save Our Homes, the Homestead Exemption, or any other exemption."

Single Subject

Article XI, section 3, Florida Constitution, provides in relevant part:

"The power to propose the revision or amendment of any portion or portions of this constitution by initiative is reserved to the people, provided that, any such revision or amendment, except for those limiting the power of government to raise revenue, shall embrace but one subject and matter directly connected therewith."

The single-subject provision "is a rule of restraint designed to insulate Florida's organic law from precipitous and cataclysmic change." Advisory Opinion to the Attorney General--Save Our Everglades, 636 So. 2d 1336, 1339 (Fla. 1994); Advisory Opinion to the Attorney General--Tax Limitation, 644 So. 2d 486, 490 (Fla. 1994).

To comply with the single-subject requirement, an initiative must manifest a "logical and natural oneness of purpose." Fine v. Firestone, 448 So. 2d 984, 990 (Fla. 1984). This Court stated in Advisory Opinion to the Attorney General--Restricts Laws Related to Discrimination, 632 So. 2d 1018, 1020 (Fla. 1994), that "[t]o ascertain whether the necessary 'oneness of purpose' exists, we must consider whether the proposal affects separate functions of government and how the proposal affects other provisions of the constitution."

As was recognized by this Court in Advisory Opinion to the Attorney General Re: Additional Homestead Tax Exemption, 800 So. 2d 646 (Fla. 2004), however, there is a threshold issue as to whether the single-subject rule applies to the proposed amendment. Section 3, Article XI, exempts from the single-subject rule proposed amendments limiting the power of government to raise revenue. "In order to meet this exception, the initiative's focus must be limited solely to the power of government to raise revenue." Advisory Opinion to Attorney General re People's Property Rights Amendments, 699 So. 2d 1304, 1310 (Fla. 1997). Here, the initiative's focus is to limit the ability of local governments and special districts to raise revenue by restricting the percentage of ad valorem taxes which may be imposed on real property. Cf. Advisory Opinion to

Attorney General re Tax Limitation, 673 So. 2d 864, 865 (Fla. 1996) (finding that an initiative requiring a two-thirds vote for new constitutionally imposed state taxes or fees fell within this exception to the single-subject rule). It would appear that the proposed amendment may fall within the exception to the single-subject rule.

Should this Honorable Court determine that the proposed initiative does not fall within the exemption in section 3, Article XI, State Constitution, for amendments limiting the power of government to raise revenue, it is requested that this Court consider whether the initiative otherwise complies with the single-subject requirement contained therein.

Ballot Title and Summary

Section 16.061, Florida Statutes, requires the Attorney General's Office to petition this Honorable Court for an advisory opinion as to whether the proposed ballot title and summary comply with section 101.161, Florida Statutes.

Section 101.161(1), Florida Statutes, provides in relevant part:

"Whenever a constitutional amendment . . . is submitted to the vote of the people, the substance of such amendment . . . shall be printed in clear and unambiguous language on the ballot . . . . The substance of the amendment . . . shall be an explanatory statement, not exceeding 75 words in length, of the chief purpose of the measure. The ballot title shall consist of a caption, not exceeding 15 words in length, by which the measure is commonly referred to or spoken of."

This Court has stated on several occasions "that the ballot [must] be fair and advise the voter sufficiently to enable him intelligently to cast his ballot." Askew v. Firestone, 421 So. 2d 151, 155 (Fla. 1982), quoting, Hill v. Milander, 72 So. 2d 796, 798 (Fla. 1954). While the ballot title and summary must state in clear and unambiguous language the chief purpose of the measure, they need not explain every detail or ramification of the proposed amendment. Carroll v. Firestone, 497 So. 2d 1204, 1206 (Fla. 1986); Advisory Opinion to the Attorney General--Limited Political Terms in Certain Elective Offices, 592 So. 2d 225, 228 (Fla. 1991). However, the ballot must give the voter fair notice of the decision he must make. Askew v. Firestone, supra at 155. This Court has stated that the purpose of section 101.161, Florida Statutes, is to ensure that the voters are advised of the true meaning of an amendment.

The chief purpose of this initiative is to limit the amount of ad valorem taxation that may be imposed upon real property in this state. The ballot summary contains 69 words and the ballot title does not exceed 15 words. The ballot title reflects that there will be a 1.35% property tax cap, unless otherwise approved by the electorate. The summary further explains that the property tax on any parcel of real property shall "never" exceed 1.35% of the highest taxable value of the property, while stating in the next sentence that the limitation does not apply to property taxes approved by voters. Thus, the ballot title and summary may be misleading to the voters.

Therefore, I respectfully request this Honorable Court to consider whether the ballot title and summary of the proposed constitutional amendment clearly and unambiguously informs the voter of the substance of the amendment, as required by section 101.161(1), Florida Statutes.

Sincerely,

Bill McCollum
Attorney General
